Confluence–Shirley Erickson

Medium–Steel with fused & cast glass

$3,000

While Erikson was on a trip to South America, she saw many examples of recycled items used to create beautiful religious art. She gathered bicycle gears, farm equipment, and other found objects to assemble this sculpture. Erikson hopes you will notice how she used negative (cut-out) shapes as well as the positive shapes of her found objects. What kinds of objects would you use to build a sculpture? Would you include negative shapes in the sculpture?
